

BRYCE MILLS

Bryce Mills is a presenter, comedian, content creator, performer and host of triple j's Breakfast show, Bryce & Concetta.

As one of Australia's most versatile broadcasters, he has interviewed not only the comedy duo 'Tiny Meat Gang' but also former Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull. Bryce can hold it down solo sharing his rich music knowledge, whilst also being able to make the nation laugh during peak listening hours. In 2020 he was dubbed one of the most exciting young radio talents in the country by Radio Today and was named in their annual 'Top New Talent To Watch' list.

From 2018 to 2022, Bryce hosted the podcast Depravityland with Campbell Walker (aka Struthless). The podcast took aim at the worst the internet has to offer and allowed Bryce to flex his deep understanding of the online world and pop culture. He has also put his knowledge to work as a panellist on Network Ten's Unpacked series, reacting to and roasting episodes of The Bachelor and The Bachelorette.

As an improv comedian, Bryce has participated in multiple sold-out shows at the Sydney Comedy Festival and Sydney Fringe Festival, as well as being invited to perform for audiences at the Secret Garden Festival.

His unique brand of docu-reality comedy and satire has amassed over one million views online and has been screened at festivals such as the Sydney Underground Film Festival.